

The Palmistry Guide

Palmistry has been practiced for thousands of years. Your character can clearly be understood by analyzing the physical features on your palms and your destiny can be revealed.

There are five main lines on the palm that are important. Each line corresponds to a different trait.

The Main Palm Lines

- The Lifeline
- The Marriage Line
- The Heart Line
- The Money Line
- The Wisdom Line

Which Hand to Read

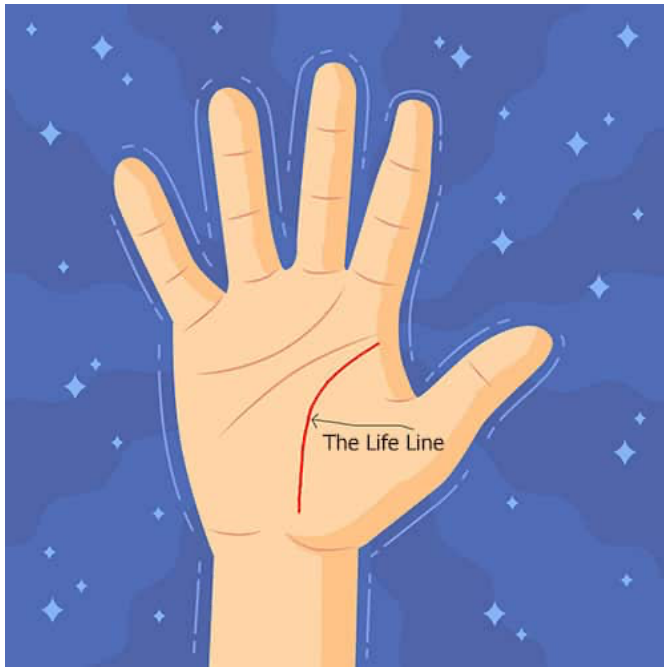

The left hand reveals a person's fortune at birth and their personality traits while the right hand indicates the present and the future so it's important to read both hands.

Palm Lines Reading

The creases of the palms of the hands are used to predict what will happen in the future. Stretch out the palm and you will see the five main lines.

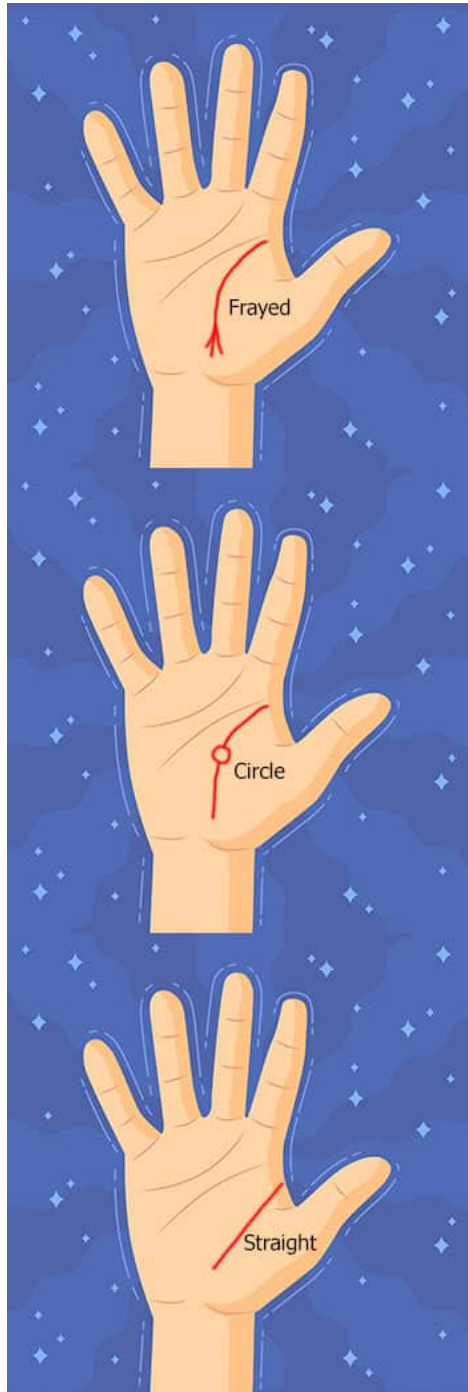

The Lifeline

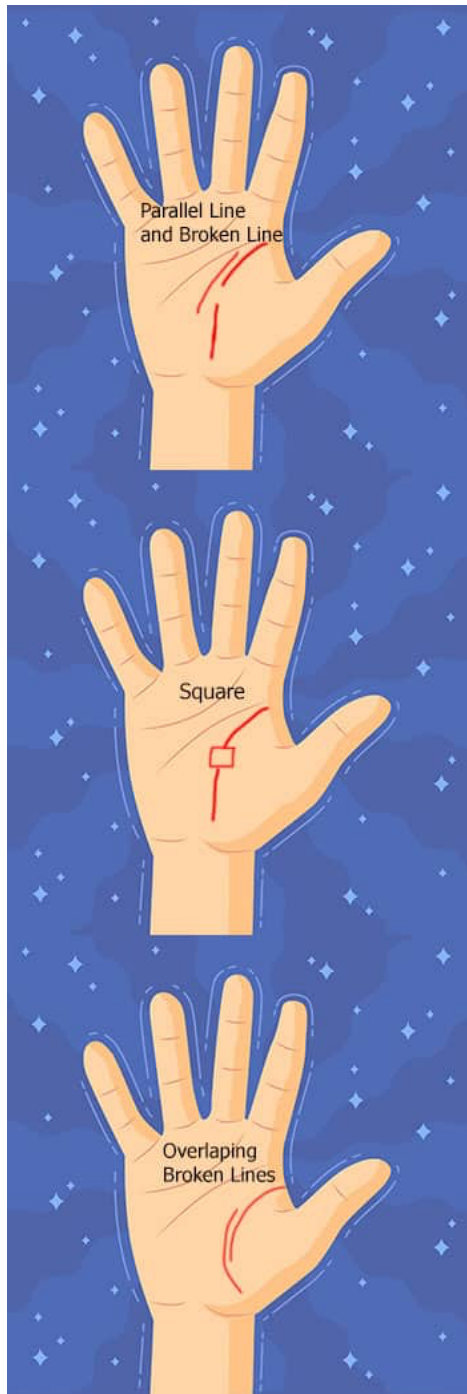

The lifeline starts from the edge of the palm between the thumb and forefinger and extends around the thumb. The length of the lifeline has nothing to do with how long a person lives. Instead, the lifeline indicates a person's physical vitality, wellness, and life experience.

- A long, deep, and clear lifeline indicates that you are full of vitality and enthusiasm and have a lot of rich life experiences.
- If the lifeline is short, it means that you are a person of integrity but a little timid and can be easily influenced by others.
- If the lifeline is shallow and vague, it means a person easily gets tired and exhausted.

- If the end of the lifeline looks frayed, it means a person is easily influenced by others.
- If there is a circle in lifeline, it means a person might easily get tired and weary.
- A straight lifeline that cuts across the palm indicates perseverance and emotional bravery. It also suggests an outgoing personality.

- A short line parallel with the lifeline usually means that the person is full of vitality and has strong resistance to disease.
- A broken lifeline with a square connecting the lines indicates a sudden change in life.
- A broken lifeline with the lines overlapping each other suggests that the person is very full of life.

The Marriage Line

The marriage line is located above the heart line. It is a short line right under the little finger. The marriage line can give a lot of insight into a person's romantic relationships and marriage.

- If the marriage line is deep and long, it represents that a person is passionate, mild, and usually has a happy family.
- A short marriage line indicates a lack of patience to pursue a romantic relationship or marriage and it is difficult to be deeply affectionate in a relationship.
- An upwards-curving marriage line shows a stable love life and harmonious marriage.
- A downwards-curving marriage line indicates a person's marriage life might not be enjoyable.

The number of the marriage line differs for different people. Some people have only one marriage line while some have several lines in this place. The longest line is usually used as a basis for palm reading.

The Heart/Love Line

The heart line is also known as the love line. It is located above the headline and runs horizontally across your palm. The heart line represents our relationships and emotions. Generally speaking, the deeper and longer the heart line, the deeper your affection.

- A long heart line extending to the palm's edge from both sides represents that a person is straightforward and faithful to their love and their friends.

- A long but straight heart line indicates that a person is stable, conservative, and sympathetic.
- If the heart line has a curve at the end, it represents a person who can express their emotions and needs well.

- If the heart line is broken into several segments or has short thin lines running through, usually indicates that a person is not very happy with their current love life.
- If the love line starts from the index finger, it usually suggests that a person is easy to open his/her heart to others.
- If the love line starts from the middle finger, it indicates that a person is easy to change emotionally.
- If the love line starts from the middle and ring finger, it indicates that a person easily falls in love.

The Money Line/Fate Line

The money line, also called the fate line, is a vertical crease in the center of the palm. It stretches from the wrist to the middle finger. It reflects your fortune, wealth, and career.

- A deep, clear, and straight money line indicates that you are good at investing and could gain fame and wealth.
- A broken money line represents that someone may not always be lucky with money. He/she may not get money easily.
- A waved money line shows instability in wealth. He/she may have a lot of troubles in his career and will need more effort to improve ability.

The Headline/Wisdom Line

Located in the center of the palm, the headline starts between the index finger and thumb and extends to the other side of the palm. The headline represents mental intelligence, intuition, and mental strength.

- The length of the headline reveals how much a person thinks independently. The depth of the line indicates a person's spiritual pursuits.
- A deep, clear, straight headline in palmistry represents a person who has strong mental strength and is independent-minded.
- A short headline means a person does not make strong mental boundaries.
- A broken headline can indicate spiritual conflicts.

- A big arc of the head line usually suggests that a person is rich in creativity.
- A clear, thin, and long headline indicates that a person has a high spiritual pursuit.

Hand Shapes in Palm Reading

There are four handshapes in palmistry, each connected with a different earth element: the fire hand, the earth hand, the air hand, and the water hand. The type of hand indicates one's basic character and personality.

The Fire Hand

Features: Fire hands have long palms and short fingers. The palm is usually square or rectangular, and noticeably heavier on the bottom half.

Personality: People with fire hands are passionate, energetic, confident, industrious, and always looking for a challenge. They like to be in charge and often make good leaders. Sometimes lack patience.

The Earth Hand

Features: Earth hands have thick and square palms and short fingers. The finger length is usually equal to palm length.

Personality: People with earth hands are practical, reliable, and down-to-earth. They are also helpful, honest, and not afraid of hard work. Sometimes, they can be insensitive, materialistic, and over-cautious. They may also dislike change and are usually comfortable with a fixed plan or situation.

The Air Hand

Features: Air hands have square palms and long fingers. They are often boney and usually with big knucklebones.

Personality: People with air hands are intellectually curious, logical, and good at analyzing. They are also great communicators and observers. They know what they want clearly and are brave to be and express themselves.

The Water Hand

Features: Water hands have long palms and long fingers. The palms are often soft and clammy to the touch.

Personality: People with water hands are often imaginative, creative, and compassionate. Sometimes they can also be emotional. People and relationships are important to them. They are introverted, so they prefer a peaceful and quiet pace of life and dislike competition.
